Song of the Negro Boatman.

Oh, praise an' tanks ! De Lord he come To set de people free ;

An' massa tink it day ob doom, An' we ob jubilec.

De Lord dat heap de Red Sea waves-He just as 'trong as den, He say de word : we last night slaves

To-day the Lord's freemen. De yam will grow, de cotton blow, We'll hab de rice an' corn : Oh, nebber you fear, if nebber you hear De driver blow his horn!

Ole massa on he trabbles gone; He leab de land behind : De Lord's breff blow him furder on, Like corn shuck in de wind. We own de hoe, we own the plow,

We own de hands dat hold : We sell de pig, we sell de cow, But neber chile be sold. De yam will grow, de cotton blow,

We'll hab de rice an' corn : Oh, nebber you fear, if nebber you hear De driver blow his horn ! We pray de Lord: He gib us signs

Dat some day he free : De Norf-wird tell it to de pines, De wild duck to de sea; We tink it when de church-bell ring,

We dream it in de dieam : De rice-bird mean it when he sing, De eagle when he scream.

De yam will grow, de cottor blow, We'll hab de rice an' corn : Oh, nebber you fear, if nebber you hear De driver blow his horn !

We know the promise neber fail, An' neber lie de word ; so, like de 'postles in de jail, We waited for de Lord : And now he open chery door, An' trow away de key : He rink we lub Him so before

We lub Him better free. De yam will grow, de cotton blow, He'll gib de rice an' corn : So nebber you fest, if nebber you hear De driver blow his horn!

(-120 VARIETY. In London, a coal-whipper testified that he and his wife had quarrelled and parted forever more than twenty times ! Night brings out stars as sorrow shows us truths -we can never see the stars till we can see little or naught else-and thus it is with truth. WANTED.-By a maiden lady, " a local habitation and a name." The real estate she is not particular about, so that the title be good. The name she wishes to hand down to posterity. Flavel said that if men should rise from the dead and read their epitaphs, some of them would think they had got into the wrong grave. Three thousand rebel prisoners at Fort Donelson have asked to be allowed their arms and be enrolled in the army of the Union.

Those are the most valuable that are the most serviceable; and those are the greatest, not that have the most talents, but that use those they possess the most usefully. A clergyman, consoling a young widow on the death of her husband, remarked that she could not find his equal. I don't know about that,' remarked the sobbing fair one, 'but I'll try.' A green one who had crossed the Atlantic, told a story of the storm, when the rain poured down in such torrents that the ocean rose six inches.

"There's no mistake," said be, "because the captain kept a mark on the side of the vessel. The poor mechanic who performs his daily task to provide food for his wife and little ones; and contributes through his example and influence to mould the popolar mind to a noble comprehension of its dignity, is fulfilling his mission as faithfully as the Lillionaire who counts his thousands. "A good advertising medium is the life of trade," so said a sensible writer. The fact is daily demonstrated, and they that would succeed have only to avail themselves of it. Advertisements, however, should be new, novel, frequently changed, timely and consinued. This is a rock upon which many have built up a business and a fortune.

The Holy Spirit will work without the fire of Providence, in changing us into the image of Christ, just in proportion as we look with open face to the Glory of Christ, for the express purpose of imitating him. Yes; let his glory change us "from glory to glory," and from one heavenly virtue on to another; and whatever conformity to the divine image we gain by this puryfying process of holy contemplation will lessen the necessity for severe purifying discipline.

Oh! marry the man you love, girls, if you can get him at all; if he is as rich as Crocesus, or as poor as Job in his fall. Do not marry tor self, girls -twill bring your soul into thrall; but marry the man you love, girls, if his purse is ever so small. Oh! never marry a fop, girls, whether he be little or tall; he'll make a fool of himself and you, he knows nothing well but to drawl. But marry a sober man, girls, there are few left on this ball; and you'll never rue the day that you ever married at all.

Home - A Home! It is the bright, blessed adorable phantom which sits highest on the sunny horiton that a forneth life. When shall it be reached? It is not the house, though that may have its charms; nor the field carefully tilled, and streaked with your own foot paths; nor yet is it the fire side with its cozy comfort; nor the books; but more than all these it is the presence. The altar of your confidence is there; and adorning it all, and sending your blood in passionate flow, in the eastasy of the conviction that there your error will meet with gentle forgiveness; that there you may unburden your soul, fearless of harsh, unsympathizing ears; and there you may be entirely and joyfully yourself.
